Brandon Clark, a young lawyer who was supported by wife, Jennifer, through law school, is finally making good money after two years at the firm.

Now that he is financially stable, he takes his wife to Vegas, giving her the nice wedding they both had dreamed of, and surprises her with a new dream. Well, with wealth and fame, comes ego and bitches. Brandon quickly gets caught up; messing with his wife's best friend and other women who cross his path as he begins to rise to fame.

Before he knows it, his wife, her best friend—who is also his mistress, and his nineteen-year-old girlfriend all get pregnant... at the same time. All things done in the dark, eventually come to light, and Jennifer finds out about her husband's double life. The revelation comes at a time when both Brandon and Jennifer are beginning to cope with a spiritual experience that promises to change Brandon, and the life he is leading. In evaluating his double lifestyle, Brandon's conscious is killing him. He knows that the life he is leading is not reflective of the man he really is.

Drugs, sex, ego, fitness, tattoos and desires of the flesh all collide when lips meet in an Unlawful Kiss.
