Abby had no other choice! She had to hold the company's annual Party at her home this year, due to a fire at the regular venue. This gave her the opening she had been waiting for. Her husband Peter makes changes to his own plans to help, and now she owes him, but that makes it more exciting. She might be keeping a secret or two from her husband, but this temporary one is well worth it. With the evening drawing to a close, and only one remaining guest, she was pleased that the evening events had gone her way.

For now, Abby needs to play it cool and keep her intentions under wraps. It was way too early for his birthday present, and besides, she wasn't even sure his gift was hers to give. Abby knew all there was to know about her husband, one particular fact played in her favor this evening, and that was his insatiable sexual appetite, which was limit! He always said yes.

Scarlett was here, alone with them at last. Now they could play Abby's game. No need for limits now?

Everything was in the hands of her husband and she was desperate for him to be in control. Making Scarlett - A Naughty Tale (A BDSMerotica Submissive Romance Series) - A Tempting Erotica Story 30 pages - for 18+ readers only
