Samantha is the secretary of Guy, an extraordinarily handsome and sexy CEO. Although she longs for a day when her hidden feelings for him will finally be recognized, he only dates girls who are her complete opposite—he's never once noticed her. No longer able to take it, Samantha turns in her resignation. However, at that moment Guy's father is hospitalized.

Worried about losing his only remaining blood relative, he asks Samantha to find him a woman who will bear his child and who won't expect marriage. And Samantha impulsively announces that she is the woman he seeks!
